

Cherokee Words and Music by Ray Noble. 1938

British bandleader Ray Noble wrote and introduced "Cherokee" as the first of five movements for "Indian Suite" (Cherokee, Comanche War Dance, Iroquois, Seminole, and Sioux Sue). The following year trumpeter and arranger Billy May created a hit instrumental arrangement of "Cherokee" for Charlie Barnet and His Orchestra. The tune would rise to number fifteen on the pop charts. There are a lot of recordings of Millers arrangements out there but I cant trace when he forst recorded it. There are a "squillion" verses for this song, that is why I have resented just few of them in this format. There are two keys I have chorded for this song. Recorded by Glenn Miller, 1944

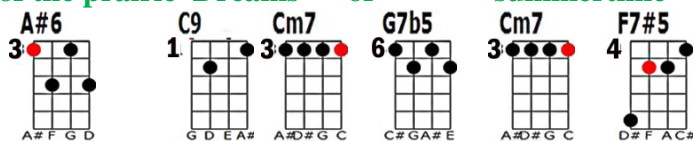

Sweet In dian maid en Since first I met you

Child of the prairie Your love keeps calling

My sweet Indian warrior One day I'll hold you

Child of the prairie Dreams of summertime

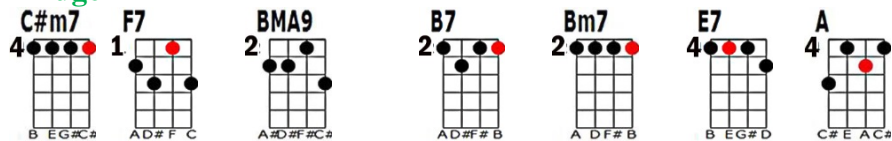

I can't for get you Cher o kee sweet heart

My heart enthralling Ooh Cherokee

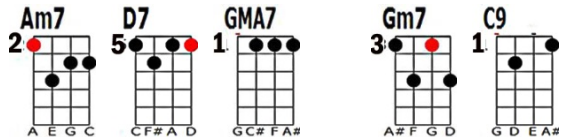

In my arms fold you Oh Cherokee

Of wintertime gone by Through my memory so tenderly and sigh

Bridge

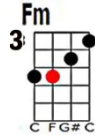

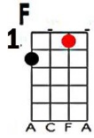

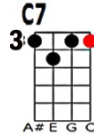

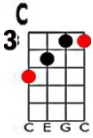

Dreams of summertime Of lover time gone by

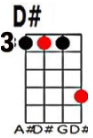

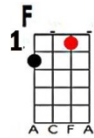

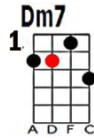

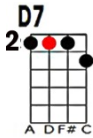

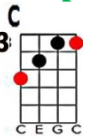

Throng my memory so tenderly and sigh

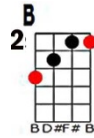

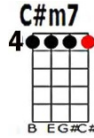

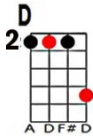

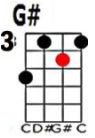

Cherokee

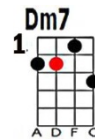

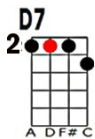

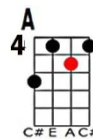

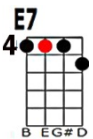

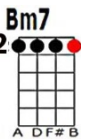

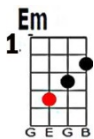

Sweet In dian maid en Since first I met you
 Child of the prairie Your love keeps calling
 My sweet Indian warrior One day I'll hold you
 Child of the prairie Dreams of summertime

I can't for get you Cher o kee sweet heart
 My heart enthralling Ooh Cherokee
 In my arms fold you Oh Cherokee
 Of wintertime gone by Through my memory so tenderly and sigh
 Bridge:

Dreams of summertime Of lover time gone by

Throng my memory so tenderly and sigh
